Glen Jammaron Appointed to Graduate School of Banking at CO Board of Trustees

The Graduate School of Banking at Colorado (GSBC), along with the Colorado Bankers Association, is pleased to announce the appointment of Glen Jammaron, Vice Chairman and President of Alpine Bank to the GSBC Board of Trustees. Glen's term will begin in July 2008.

Glen was born and raised in Western Colorado and graduated from Western State College in 1984. He started working for Alpine Bank as a management trainee in 1985 and has worked in all aspects of banking, holding various positions including loan officer, bank president, president of operations, and currently as vice chairman and president.

Glen successfully completed the Graduate School of Banking at Colorado in 1988.

He currently resides on the family ranch near Glenwood Springs with his wife Lynne, and has two children who presently attend University of Colorado.

The School is working on some exciting new strategic initiatives under the leadership of the GSBC Board of Trustees, which also includes Don Childears, President and CEO of the Colorado Bankers Association, Dave Baker, COO of FirstBank of Colorado, and GSBC President, Tim Koch. Everyone is looking forward to Glen's participation, including Childears who stated, "Glen will help GSBC do an even better job educating community bankers. He brings a wealth of experience about community banks thriving in a very competitive world."

GSBC provides professional development and training for community bankers preparing for senior-level management positions. Founded in 1950, GSBC has educated almost 7,000 bankers across the nation. This year's school session will be held July 13-25, 2008 on the University of Colorado campus in Boulder, Colorado. Currently 76 Colorado bankers are enrolled at GSBC.
